

Utah: 2023 ECF Grantmaking Guidelines

Utah Chapter

Boeing's relationship with Utah began in 1927 when a Boeing Air Transport aircraft touched down in Salt Lake City. The state was a stop along an air route between Chicago and San Francisco. Since then, Utah has become a hub for Boeing business. Today, facilities provide specialized parts for Boeing Commercial Airplanes and vital services for the company's defense customers.

The ECF Utah Chapter is small but mighty! Employees from Boeing Defense, Space & Security in Ogden and Boeing Commercial Airplanes in Salt Lake City make up our organization.

In 2018, we invested more than $60,000 in local nonprofits. ECF Utah focuses on smaller community nonprofits without a national presence. These organizations may not be well known but are providing much-needed services to the community, and we're proud to be able to support them.
